Committee Appointments (Zane Wolf)

Handbook Revisions Regarding FAP (Rich DiDio)

Discussion of Proposed Revision of the Grading System to Include "+" and "-" Grades

FACULTY SENATE, LA SALLE UNIVERSITY
MINUTES, MEETING #8
MARCH 24, 1994

Present: Nicholas Angerosa, Paul Brazina, Richard DiDio, Preston Feden, Marianne Gauss, William Grosnick, Prafulla Joglekar, Emery Mollenhauer, FSC, Mary Lou McHugh, Elizabeth Paulin, Joseph Seltzer, John Seydow, Joseph Volpe, Zane Wolf.

Excused: David Cichowicz, Gary Clabaugh, Patricia Gerrity, Richard Geruson, William Hall, FSC, Edward Sheehy, FSC.

The eighth meeting of the Faculty Senate commenced at 2:32 p.m., with the submission of an amendment to the minutes of 15 February 1994 by members of the Senate Financial Affairs Committee. Senate members were given a written copy of the proposed changes and, with little discussion, voted to approve the minutes (9-0-3) as amended.

The President then presented his report on the Middle States Steering Committee, the wording of the annual faculty contract, and his ruling on by-law 2 of Article VI of the By-Laws to the Constitution of the Faculty Senate.

With respect to the Middle States Steering Committee, the President informed the Senate that the delays in the selection of faculty to serve on the Steering Committee had necessitated a deviation from the Senate's normal procedure. Instead of having the Senate vote on individual candidates, the President conferred with the Chair of the Committee on Committees and the members of the Executive Committee and then submitted the names of several faculty members to the Provost for possible selection to the Steering Committee. (The faculty members who will be serving on the Steering Committee are Andrew G. Bean, Patricia M. Becker, David P. Efroymsen, and David J. Cichowicz. The administrators who will be serving are John S. Baky, Nancy A. Brewer, Gloria A. Donnelly, and Barbara C. Millard. As of this date, student representatives have not been selected.)

The second item in the President's report concerned the judicial interpretation of the annual faculty contract. (In a recent court case involving the University, the contract's wording was interpreted as guaranteeing employment for one year only.) In response to a query by the President of the Senate, the University's legal counsel conveyed its belief that this interpretation does not nullify the concept of tenure and thus, there is no need for the faculty contract to be changed. In contrast, another legal expert suggested informally to the President that an additional clarifying phrase ought to be added to the contract. The Senate then discussed what this phrase should be.

The third and final item reported on by the President concerned a procedural ruling on the way in which the Senate votes on the appointment of faculty to University committees. By-law 2 of Article VI of the By-Laws to the Constitution of the Faculty Senate (as revised and approved April, 1988) reads as follows:

Approval of nomination to a committee is evidenced by a vote of the Senate. Approval may be given name by name or committee by committee, but may not be given en masse for all appointments. If approval is not obtained, the names of alternates are then submitted. Should all alternates be disapproved, then nominations will be taken from the floor. When agreement cannot be reached, the matter is returned to the Committee on Committees for further study.

The President submitted the following ruling:

It is the view of the President of the Senate that not only does this by-law permit the Senate as a whole to know the names of all persons being nominated to a given committee in advance of approving individual nominees, it also permits the Senate to approve all nominees to a particular committee at once if it so chooses. The stipulation that approval "may not be given en masse for all appointments" is there to prevent the Senate from simply "rubber-stamping" the recommendations of the Committee on Committees by approving all committee assignments at once.

After the President's report, the Chair of the Committee on Committees presented the Senate with its recommendations regarding the appointment of faculty to the Promotion and Tenure Committee. Following the Senate's vote, the process continued until virtually all committee appointments had been voted on. It should be noted, however, that before the Promotion and Tenure Appeals Committee recommendations were announced, the following motion was made:

The Faculty Senate requests that the President recommend to University Council that a fourth person be appointed to the Promotion and Tenure Appeals Committee for a 3-year term to serve as an alternate in the case of a "conflict of interest."

After a brief discussion, the motion was passed (14-0-0).

The Senate then turned its attention to the question of an open Senate meeting in the spring. After a brief discussion, the Senate decided that it was not necessary at this time.

Next, a Senate member put forth the following motion:

Members of the Faculty Senate wish to formally express our gratitude to the Chair of the Committee on Committees and to the members of that Committee for their work in putting together the list of committee recommendations.

The motion was unanimously approved.

Before adjourning, the President briefly outlined the topics that would be on the Senate agenda for the next meeting.

The Senate adjourned at 4:17 p.m.

Respectfully submitted,

Elizabeth A. Paulin

DEAN, SCHOOL OF ARTS AND SCIENCES

RE: NEH Summer Study Grants

The next deadline for the NEH Summer Study Grant proposals is August 15, 1994, for projects in the summer of 1995. For application guidelines and samples of successful proposals write: Study Grants, NEH, Room 316, 1100 Pennsylvania Avenue, NW, Washington, D.C. 20506 (202-606-8485 or 202-606-8463).

Study Grants provide $3,000 to free teachers from other responsibilities for six consecutive weeks of full-time summer study. The aim is to rekindle, through study of significant texts and topics, the teacher's engagement with the humanities; this in turn will enrich the teacher's undergraduate teaching.

Strong preference is given to undergraduate humanities teachers with heavy teaching responsibilities. Also receiving preference are teachers who have been in the classroom full-time for more than two years who do not have frequent opportunities for independent study.

Self-designed projects are for intensive study rather than research intended for publication. Course preparation or other responses to curricular demands fall outside the aims of Study Grants. Projects address a well-defined inquiry with specific aims to a reading list of primary and secondary works. Strongly encouraged are projects which examine significant texts, topics and figures in the humanities.

Most undergraduate teachers, including those holding administrative and adjunct appointments, are eligible.

Among winners in the last competition were teachers at California State Fresno (CA), Talladega College (AL), Western Carolina State University (NC), Skidmore College (NY), Wheaton College (IL), Valencia Community College (FL), and the University of Wisconsin at Stout (WI).

As the school year winds down, here is an informal update, since January 1, of the progress made to enhance the awareness of and utilization of "La Salle's best-kept secret" -- our Archives:

I. THIS SEMESTER

A. We thank the donors of the following items to the Archives:

Kathleen Schrader (Student Life items)	John Keenan ( Four Quarters )
James McDonald (11 yearbooks)	Brian Fisher ( 2 Collegians
Bro. Charles Gresh (Charter Day items)	from 1931 and 1932)
David Hebert (12 yearbooks)	Bro. Daniel Burke (Bogacz
Jeremy Bushnell (5 Grimoires )	papers)
Bob Vetrone (sports programs)	Robert Schickling (catalogs)

B. A salute to our graduating student workers (Valerie Zalesky and Steve Gingolaski) and to our weekly volunteer, Bro. Erminus Joseph

C. From January 1 to April 13: 95 guests and 15 letter/phone inquiries

D. Typical questions from our researchers include "Show me your collection of...."; "I need a photocopy of...."; "Name the La Salle graduates who...."; "What do you have in your files on...."; "What is the history of...."; etc.

E. Interviews with Administrators, Department chairs and office directors have been initiated to communicate the value of archival acquisition through new Collection Policies.

F. A large display case exhibit in the Student Union featuring classic yearbooks, Collegians, and a salute to the '54 NCAA basketball champs

II. FUTURE ACTIVITIES

A. Continued interviews with administrative and academic departments

B. Implementation of Collection Policies

C. Total computerization of collections

D. Guest lecturing about the value of the Archives, e.g. F.Y.E.

III. APPRECIATION

Thanks to Dr. Daniel Pantaleo, Mr. John Baky, and Mr. John McAskill for their sustaining guidance and support.

Please call me (x1294) or drop me a note if I can ever be of assistance to you. "What the son wishes to forget, the grandson wishes to remember."

LA SALLE STUDENT-ATHLETES HOLD 'APPRECIATION DAY' FOR FACULTY

La Salle University will hold its second annual student-athletes/faculty luncheon, Thursday, April 21, in the Dunleavy Room of the College Union on the campus at 20th st. and Olney ave., Philadelphia.

Joseph Gillespie, Director of La Salle's Academic Support Services for Student-Athletes, conducts the program in which senior student-athletes receive the opportunity to honor the La Salle faculty or staff member who has contributed most significantly to his or her success as a student.

"This luncheon is La Salle's way of commemorating National Student-Athlete Day, a program of the National Consortium for Athletics and Sport," Gillespie said. "Recognizing the many ways that the La Salle University faculty and staff put the student first each and every day, this affair enables the student-athletes to say 'thank you'."

In this Issue...

This issue of LUCID contains a balance of hands-on, service and background information which will improve your computing productivity. Ralph Romano's article discusses some of the new software features on the HP: a new, user-friendly e-mail package; high speed up/download protocols; and two end-user locators. If you are a Word for Windows user, Mark Purcell's steps you through Word's templates and other productivity tools. We've opened a multi-media lab for nursing students; Joe Simon highlights the goodies in this lab.

In addition to death and taxes you'll have something else in your life - LANs. To keep up with the latest additions to the Academic LAN read Tom Pasquale's article. If you would like to learn how the Academic LAN is constructed and where this campus is heading with regards to instructional computing, then do study the tutorial/exposé by Steve Longo. For those who focus on appearances give an eye to Herb Ramirez's Desktop Publishing Services article. Did you know that La Salle 56 broadcasts live from Hayman Hall? ## ICE BEER

Several days ago while walking through the Food Court I was asked by a faculty member why the alcohol content of Ice Beer is greater than that of 'regular' beer. I had to admit that I didn't know, but a little research might result in an interesting Booze News article.

I promptly posted this query on several alcohol related Internet discussion groups to which I subscribe. Almost immediately, I began to receive responses. Ice Beer is the result of a specific brewing process where the final stage involves lowering the temperature of the mash to several degrees below freezing. As a result of this process, ice crystals form along the edge of the vat. This ice is then removed from the brew in an attempt to produce a 'smoother', more 'fully bodied' beer.

Applying my recollections of an undergraduate "Physics for Poets" course taken some years ago, I realized that to remove water from a mixture in which other substances were suspended would increase the ratio of those other substances to the water. Sure enough, the alcohol content of ice beer (5.5%) is roughly 22% greater than that of regular beer (4.5%).

One respondent to my Internet inquiry suggested that Anheuser-Busch's addition of water to their ice beer is a conscious attempt to address this issue and reduce potential liability which may be associated with the production of a more potent brew. However, this was one individual's response and therefore maybe suspect.

While some may say, "4.5...5.5%, what's the difference?", an increase in the alcohol content from 4.5 to 5.5% represents a 22% increase in potency. Put another way, the 150 lb. male who can metabolize the alcohol in a 12 oz. 'regular' beer in an hour will require 1 hr 10 minutes to remove the alcohol in an ice beer. Drinking 6 beers in an outing, a reality for many heavy drinkers, will add a full .025 to the BAC over the same number of 'regular' beers (.10 = legal limit).

Of course 'enhanced' alcohol content is not new regarding malt beverages. Olde English and Colt-45 have been marketed for some time with greater than 4.5% alcohol content. However, it is interesting to consider exactly what Miller is suggesting in its Lite (less calories) Ice Beer ads- "More of what you want in a beer, less of what you don't".

SOC. WORK ASSOC. WORKSHOP

The Social Work Association of La Salle will sponsor an informational forum on Monday, April 18th from 1:30 until 3:00 p.m. in the Chapel.

Representatives of Alcoholics Anonymous, Narcotics Anonymous, and Cocaine Anonymous will be present to present an overview of these fellowships by sharing their own personal stories of addiction and recovery.

Faculty are asked to mention this forum to their students and encourage their attendance. This workshop should prove both interesting and informative to any student intending to pursue a human services career such as medicine, social work, personnel, or education.

DRINKING & BOATING

Boating is one of Pennsylvania's favorite past times, but boating and alcohol are not compatible. Alcohol affects judgement, balance and vision. If any of these senses are affected, the likelihood of a boating accident increases. Using alcohol can be tragic when mixed with unpredictable water conditions and reckless behavior.

KNOW THE BASICS:

- o Balance is one of the first things that alcohol affects. One shot of alcohol or one glass of beer can impair a person's sense of balance. The motion of the boat may be enough to cause a boater who has been drinking to fall overboard.

- o Action is often slowed with consumption of alcohol. Alcohol may intensify disorientation to the point where a person whose head is beneath the water may swim down instead of up.

- o Sight - Alcohol causes tunnel vision, blurring of sight and increases eye fixations, thus causing incorrect info to reach the brain. Alcohol can interfere with focusing and depth perception, peripheral vision, judgement of speed and distance, and the ability to follow moving objects.

- o Impaired judgement - Operating a boat can be more complicated than driving a car and if combined with alcohol, fatal. Alcohol affects the ability to make quick, sound decisions and may cause boaters to take risks they wouldn't take when sober.

- o Costly? - Yes! Operating a boat while intoxicated is dangerous and illegal. Violators could get up to a year in jail and a $5,000. fine.

TESTING FOR INTOXICATION

A waterways conservation officer, having reasonable suspicion to believe a person is operating or in actual physical control of the movement of a watercraft while under the influence of alcohol, may request that person to submit to a preliminary breath test. This test may be administered prior to arrest. A variety of other field sobriety tests have been developed and are approved for this purpose.

IS PERMISSION NECESSARY TO TEST MY BAC?

Any person who operates or is in actual physical control of the watercraft, upon, in or through the waters of this Commonwealth, shall be determined to have given consent to one or more chemical tests of breath, blood or urine for the purpose of determining the alcohol content of blood or the presence of a controlled substance. The waterways conservation officer must have reasonable grounds to believe that the person has been operating or in actual physical control of the movement of the watercraft. If any person placed under arrest for operating watercraft under the influence of alcohol or controlled substance is requested to submit to chemical testing and refuses, the test shall not be conducted. But the Commission shall suspend the boating privileges of the person for a period of 12 months. In addition to suspending boating privileges for one year, the fact that the defendant refused to submit to chemical testing may be introduced in evidence along with the other testimony concerning the circumstances of the refusal.

WHAT HAPPENS IF I AM CAUGHT?

The penalties for operating a watercraft while under the influence of alcohol or a controlled substance could lead to a fine of not less than $259.00 nor more than $5,000., or imprisonment not exceeding 90 days, or both, plus the loss of boating privileges for a period of 12 months. Homicide by watercraft while under the influence carries a fine of $5,000. to $15,000., or 3 to 7 years in prison, or both. In addition to the offenses described above, operating a watercraft under the influence may also violate other laws. These may include prohibitions against reckless or negligent operation of boats, public drunkenness, disorderly conduct and underage drinking.
